HORSE SHOW - Ride for The Blue Ribbon - A Card Game For Ages 8 & Up

Herd Your Horses Game TALICOR INC. Product Description

Join the herd for 3 wild adventures!

Ever wonder what it would be like to be part of a wild herd of horses? Or what it's like to conduct a round up?

The Herd Your Horses Game allows you to experience life from the horse's or the rancher's point of view.

Along the way, you'll learn to appreciate more than just the majestic beauty of these animals! Try any one of these three exciting games!

1: Mustang Adventure: You and your friends play mustangs that have just escaped from a ranch. To survive in the wild, you must gather a herd of mares and foals. Watch out for predators, drought, human mustangers, and other hazards.

2: Rancher's Roundup: Now you change points of view. You are ranchers, and your prized horses have just broken free. You all agree on a friendly contest to see who can round up horses by brand and make it to Green River Valley first.

3: Rancher's Revenge: Your friendly contest turns into a game of knowledge and strategy as you round up horses by their color family (roan, gray, and so on) and markings (stocking, blaze, and so on).

Plus, rules for 3 simple solitaire games are included. With this game, you'll meet more than 50 horses, each fully illustrated in color on jumbo playing cards. Each game also includes four horse playing pieces, 42 adventure cards, a game board and die, and a game booklet with rules, information about horses, and a reading list. Recommended for 2 to 4 players, ages 8 and up.

DreamWorks Spirit Matching Game – card game

Though not a traditional playing card game, this matching card game is great for improving memory. It is easy to learn and develops important critical learning skills for children.

The game features 72 tiles that are all beautifully illustrated with a horse or character from Spirit Untamed. The game takes five minutes to learn and less than 15 minutes to play.

Kids can match Spirit the wild stallion along with his friends Chica Linda, Boomerang, and many more.

The game can be played solo or with a friend. (Amazon)

Professor Noggin's Horses Card Game

Professor Noggin's is an educational card game that encourages kids to learn interesting facts about horses and ponies.

The cards combine trivia, true or false, and multiple choice questions. There are easy and hard questions to keep children engaged. Also, there is a special three-numbered dice that adds an element of unpredictability. (Ebay)

Horse-Opoly – board game

The Horse-Opoly Board Game by Late For The Sky is an equine-based property trading game. Horse-Opoly encourages horseplay, as you can buy horses, feed, and barns.

During the game, you buy and sell different properties with the goal of becoming the richest player. The board game even teaches you fun facts about different horse breeds. Just be on the lookout for bucking broncos, farrier bills, and the dreaded task of being sent to the horse trailer. (Amazon)

Monopoly – Horses & Ponies

This is an exciting take on the classic Monopoly board game. In Monopoly – Horses & Ponies, you will build your own barn on the way to success in this property trading game.

Buy and trade from a large variety of different horse breeds while building your barn. Buy tack, invest in stables, and take riding lessons, just make sure to have enough money for vet and farrier bills. Be sure to be on the lookout for different equestrian taxes and fees as you navigate the game. (Ebay)

Round-Up

Round-Up is a cooperative board game where players work together to round-up escaped horses. Each player works together for the same ranch to rescue the five escaped horses.

Round-Up includes 26 randomly distributed pieces, which allows for the game to be different every time you play it. With every turn, players will pick up a card that will either reveal a horse, rock, or tool. With every item collected, you can work to bring back the runaway horses. (Amazon)

Ravensburger Hundreds of Horses Kids Board Game

Test your real-world “horse sense” against friends with this unique horse storyboard game. A player must round-up four horse cards and read a description of each horse. Then, each player must secretly vote and determine which horse suits the story best. The player with the highest score wins. Suitable for adults and kids over 6 years old. (Ebay)

Gallop Home

Put your equestrian skills to the test with this intricate board game. Players can try their hand as a horse trainer, with a full range and variety of skills to choose from.

Riders have the ability to choose what disciplines and fields they want to acquire. The game’s goal is to build a stable of winning skills while experiencing the joy of training horses. Players can choose to play with an Arabian, Friesian, Thoroughbred or Paint, with stunning game pieces of each horse.

The game is ideal for horse lovers ages eight and up. It can accommodate two to four players. (Ebay)

Fantasy Ranch – board game

Fantasy Ranch allows you to build and manage your own dream stables. This ranching horse board game includes three different levels, making it great for people of all ages.

Not only can you build your dream barn in Fantasy Ranch, but you are also able to compete at horse shows, collect horses, expand your land, manage your resources, and hire employees. You’re even able to collect trophies and rewards to help you succeed.

Fantasy Ranch includes ranch tiles, horse game pieces, twist of fate cards, and guest ranches that actually feature real-life ranches from around the world. (Amazon)

Spirit Untamed Hide & Seek Kids Game

This hide-and-seek game will provide hours of entertainment for the young Spirit lover. It features horses, a board, and buildings from the Spirit Untamed animated film. In the game, hidiers quickly place the horses under buildings while the seeker keeps their eyes closed. The seeker then chooses a building to uncover and receives one token for each wild horse found. However, if they find Spirit, they lose one token. Hidiers win if they can get their wild horses to the finish, and seekers win if they get three point tokens. This game is ideal for ages five and up as it helps with decision-making skills, manual dexterity, and hand-eye coordination. It can accommodate two to four players. (Amazon)

Spirit Untamed Hoppin’ Horses

This unique game will take family game night to the next level. It is an easy-to-play game that will bring out friendly competition in kids. The goal of this game is simple: launch your horse to the highest peak on the mountain to earn a token. Whoever gets three tokens first wins the game. This game is great for developing manual dexterity and hand-eye coordination in children as they launch the horses. The game is for ages five and up and can accommodate two to four players. (Amazon)

Spirit Untamed Stackin’ Apples - Mattel Spirit Untamed Stackin’ Apples Kids Game, Treat-Stacking Challenge With Hungry Horse For 2, 3, Or 4 Players, 5 Years Old & Up. Kids will love this game as it features an adorable Spirit the Mustang game piece. Not only is the game fun to play, but Spirit also makes a great decoration to keep on display. The game’s objective is simple, stack treats on Spirit’s nose and then push his hoof so he will eat the treats. Watch Spirit eat the apples and win the treats as points. Any apples he doesn’t eat go back in the draw pile. In addition to making kids laugh, this game is also great for building manual dexterity. It is ideal for ages five and up and can accommodate two to four players. (Amazon)

Horse Bingo Board Game

No matter your age, Bingo is something that you can enjoy playing. This rendition of Bingo takes it to the next level by incorporating horses into the gameplay. The Bingo cards incorporate different horse breeds and terms. It is a great way to test your equine knowledge while also learning new horse terms. This Bingo set features six playing cards and is ideal for ages three and up. (Amazon)

SmartGames Horse Academy Path-Building Game

This logic-based game is fun for both children and adults alike. It features four different skill levels depending on how much of a challenge you want: Starter, Junior, Expert, and Master. As a path-building puzzle game, there are 80 different challenges you can do. Build the jumping course based on the challenges in the book. Logic is needed at the starting gate to ensure your horse can complete the course. This game requires spatial insight, planning, and problem-solving skills. It is ideal for ages seven and up and is designed to be played by one person. (Amazon)

Spirit Top Trumps Match

This popular game now comes in a Spirit Untamed edition that horse-lovers will enjoy. Its simple design stores easily, making it a great game to travel with. The objective of the game is to match five Spirit characters in a row, whether that is horizontally, vertically, or diagonally. Each player selects two cards at random and then takes a turn to push out and replace cubes in the grid. Players receive one point for matching five characters in a row and two points for matching with a card. (Amazon)

Candy Land Unicorn Edition Board Game

This fun and adorable unicorn edition of Candy Land is a great twist on the classic board game. Kids can let their imagination run wild as they follow the magical path to Rainbow Mountain. The colorful game board features adorable unicorns and a fun 3D Rainbow Mountain. In this simple game, kids draw cards to guide their unicorns down the magical path. The game is a great first board game for children as there is no reading involved. It is fitting for ages three and up and can accommodate two to four players. (Amazon)
