

Hi Sandra,

PATH will be putting together an update regarding the update on EAL. It is official that it is EAL and PATH is planning on putting out a official communication to that end. Our committee has just finished the definition, the guidelines and the competences for EAL. These to will be announced soon. The separation of EAL and EFP will take some time to catch up regarding the PATH documents on the website. The next steps are revising the EAL handbook, creating a certification and developing the specialties of education, professional development and coaching. We also need to figure out how the current ES will transition into the EAL cert. We are so excited at the possibilities regarding EAL. We will be giving an update at the national conference and hope that folks can make it!
